Solace

Project 86

We have waited for so long to occur this day
There are those who fly away to a distant place
But I think I'll stay and I wouldn't have it any other way
In this solace I see a light piercing the darkness
Coming on the winds of imagery, when all I know is crumbling
I am becoming something more than humanity
Could ever allow me to be
I remember a day when my dreams of escape seemed so far away
Let's go back in time, you and I to my Initiation to your false empire
You greased, you aimed and then you spit while I
Once again pushed away my conscience
Yet always, it seems
I cannot fathom the plateau without first the pit
Against the goads there can be no pleading
Because every thought reaps an action
And for you, my former captor all the earthly wisdom and wealth
Cannot erase your susceptibility to brutal mortality
And the funny thing about justice
Is that it always comes when you least expect it
So friends, it won't be long seems I stole your smile
Right from wrong
So forever now we'll find our peace inside this

We'll find our solace in your silence
And though, I once desired your twisted sense of fame
I know, I know that in myself I'm nothing
Nothing, nothing
Nothing but the words of the meaningless
You have given me all I'll ever need
The nerve, the greed, the lust
The lust, the lust, the lust for justice
And now I will never rest
Until the meaningless become your silence
And you're over, over, over, out!
Over, over, over, out!
Over, over, over, out!
Over, over, over, out!
Now I mean to thank you once again, with this

My, my, my goodbye kiss
You broke my heart but something tells me
That I won't, that I won't, and I won't miss it
And on this very day and on this very hill
While the heavens are hushed in anticipation
Beckoning we'll have ourselves a reckoning
And all of the oppressed will greet you
And you're over, over, over, out!
Over, over, over

Lyrics provided by https://damnlyrics.com/