One Thin Dime

Reba McEntire

Your mind's made up, you're gonna leave
Nothing I can say will stop you so it seems
But before you up and go
There's just something you should know
When you find that I'm the one you still needOne thin dime is all it takes
When you need someone who cares
These arms of mine are always open
One thin dime is all you need and I'll be thereOh, you're chasing rainbows and I understand
When you're through I'll take you back again
I'll be waiting patiently
For when you come back to me
Ain't nobody else can love you like I canOne thin dime is all it takes
When you need someone who cares
These arms of mine are always open
One thin dime is all you need and I'll be thereYou know the number, I'm always home
So honey, just pick up and dial that telephone
When this world treats you unkind
Get your momma on the line
There ain't no need for you to ever be aloneOne thin dime is all it takes
When you need someone who cares
These arms of mine are always open
One thin dime is all you need and I'll be thereThese arms of mine, oh, they're always open
One thin dime is all you need and I'll be there
