

One Thin Dime

Reba McEntire

Your mind's made up, you're gonna leave
Nothing I can say will stop you so it seems
But before you up and go
There's just something you should know
When you find that I'm the one you still need
One thin dime is all it takes
When you need someone who cares
These arms of mine are always open
One thin dime is all you need and I'll be there
Oh, you're chasing rainbows and I understand
When you're through I'll take you back again
I'll be waiting patiently
For when you come back to me
Ain't nobody else can love you like I can
One thin dime is all it takes
When you need someone who cares
These arms of mine are always open
One thin dime is all you need and I'll be there
You know the number, I'm always home
So honey, just pick up and dial that telephone
When this world treats you unkind
Get your momma on the line
There ain't no need for you to ever be alone
One thin dime is all it takes
When you need someone who cares
These arms of mine are always open
One thin dime is all you need and I'll be there
These arms of mine, oh, they're always open
One thin dime is all you need and I'll be there
