

Remember the Day

Capital Lights

Bite down, hold your tongue, girl
Lights out, over our world
Lips spoken the truth, left you feeling ashamed
You're calling out Reborn, a well rehearsed line
Once more, wasting our time
But I'm ready to set your record straight
When you're calling out Wear your time feeling lucky
If you're lucky at all
Wear your time out Remember the day, remember the night
Remember the weekend walk to the coldest fight in the rain
We said our goodbyes, honey, my love washed out
As you made up your mind in the rain Soft heart full of regret
Beats slow like a bad threat
I burned the letter you wrote re-inviting me in
You're calling out Your choice and I've spoken
My word, yours broken
And now you're wanting it back, it backfired again
But you're calling out Wear your time feeling lucky
If you're lucky at all
Wear your time out Remember the day, remember the night
Remember the weekend walk to the coldest fight in the rain
We said our goodbyes, honey, my love washed out
As you made up your mind in the rain Remember the day, remember the night
Remember the weekend walk to the coldest fight in the rain
We said our goodbyes, honey, my love washed out
As you made up your mind in the rain And I'm gone, I'm gone Another goodbye, another goodbye
So self assured with unbelievable posture
Attempt retired at the blink of an eye
She said, Our darkest hour was the worst departure Another goodbye, another goodbye
So self assured with unbelievable posture
Attempt retired at the blink of an eye
She said, Our darkest hour was the worst departure Remember the day, remember the night
Remember the weekend walk to the coldest fight in the rain
We said our goodbyes, honey, my love washed out
As you made up your mind in the rain Remember the day, remember the night
Remember the weekend walk to the coldest fight in the rain
We said our goodbyes, honey, my love washed out
As you made up your mind in the rain
