

Try to Be Hopeful

The Spook School

Sometimes i get so hopeful i make myself scared that i will wake up and the hope will disappear Sometimes i see you clench your fists and close your eyes like you're dreading the same thing / like you're saying your goodbyes I've been waiting outside for what seems like years when i finally get inside I'll give in to the fear of finally having what I want, I'll finally know if this really really will fix me if my problems will all sail away and I know, you've been finding things hard if you want to we can sit outside and talk about anything else and I know, you've been upset I know i'm not the best, but i'll try I'll try, try to be hopeful if you try, try to be hopeful (and we can be/the best people we could ever be)
