Inception

Artemis

in the home of the free and the land of the brave i know you
i know you would never be enslaved to the object of your desire it?s like walking on a tightrope wire when everything you see everything is just a mirror of what you believe we?re in this world but not of it in this world but not of it in this world but not in this world up is not always up and down does not mean out and sometimes a fairy tale can?t show you what you?re all about but if you listen closely oh say don?t you see everything everything everything is here to set you free

and we walk in twisted midnite under an alien sky listening to ninety-nine channels of white noise

in this world but not in this world
