Endless

Ron van den Beuken

Lying face down
Afraid to close my eyes
See your face now
As the light turns out
God knows I try
But I keep setting myself to fail
I changed my mind
So I let go of my wanted pride
I know that it's too late
And I break down
All alone now
The candles fading out
Should've known how
To separate my doubt
Awaiting this night
So I let go of my wanted pride
I know that it's too late
And I break down
I couldn't save the one
That I always loved
I'm dying each day
That you're away
You shine your light
But I lost my way
And I can't breathe
All alone now
The candles fading
So I let go of my wanted pride
I know it's too late
And I'll break down
I couldn't save the one
That I always loved
I'm dying with each day
That you're away
I'll let it go, all of my pride
I know it's too late
And I'll break down
Couldn't save the one
The one I always loved

I'm dying with each day
Each day that you're away
