Dawn Over A New World

Dragonforce

In the darkness of the night in the shadows of the dawn
It's turning black no lookin' back the sands of time are sown
When the day will slowly end and the sun has turn to gray
Will we feel the power of freedom with the dawn of a new day? Whoa
Over mountains paved with gold and through the valleys of the slain
Our quest will lead us onwards to the journey of the brave
When the time has come to stand for the power we believe
We will ring the sound of victory for one and all to see
Sometimes in your darkest dreams you will feel the haunting pain
Silent tears of your hidden fears come to haunt you once again
Fight on for the memories of the everlasting dream
(Dream)
Their pain in the silent lands on wings of glory free
We can go on forever with the darkness so far away
(We can go on)
And the warriors who live forever fight on to the end
Across the highest mountains and through the endless seas
Our journey ever onwards fight until we all be free
Through the darkness shining the never ending light
On through the days of glory rise towards the fight
And one day we will find the way towards this distant golden age

The cries of war will sound the day
We stand before the dawn of a new world
On through the raging thunder across the seven seas
Cold winter skies are falling on the battles we have seen, yea
We can go on forever with the darkness so far away
(We can go on)
And the warriors who live forever fight on to the end
Across the highest mountains and through the endless seas
Our journey ever onwards fight until we all be free
Across the highest mountains and through the endless seas
Our journey ever onwards fight until we all be free
Through the darkness shining the never ending light
On through the days of glory rise towards the fight
And one day we will find a way towards this distant golden age
The cries of war will sound the day
We stand before the dawn of a new world
We stand before the dawn of a new world

Lyrics provided by https://damnlyrics.com/