

Listen to Your Friends

New Found Glory

I wake up in a waiting room
With the taste of blood and a clouded view
I notice there is a tear in my jeans
The sleeves of my shirt have been ripped from their seams
My memory is a little bit blank
The thought of my name doesn't seem to come back
And I turn and scream, "What am I here for?"
The nurses yell, "You were left at the door"
I'm a stranger, someone left me for dead
And I need to decide what to do next
Oh, just then I found a note in my pocket, it read
I don't ever wanna see you again and I guess
That explains why I can't remember the rest of the night
I should have listened to my friends
I should have listened to them
When they told me you had bad intentions
I remember the string of events
From the dinner receipt when I grabbed your hand
I know that you went in for a kiss
And I told you that's not only what this is
You held me at the end of my seat
And you had that look, the look of defeat
You wish that you could start this over
Instead you left me in a coma
Oh, just then I found a note in my pocket, it read
I don't ever wanna see you again and I guess
That explains why I can't remember the rest of the night
I should have listened to my friends
I should have listened to them
When they told me you had bad intentions
I should have listened to my friends
I should have listened to them
When they told me you had bad intentions
Oh, just then I found a note in my pocket, it read
I don't ever wanna see you again and I guess
That explains why I can't remember the rest of the night, yeah
I should have listened to my friends
I should have listened to them
When they told me you had bad intentions
I should have listened to my friends
I should have listened to them
When they told me you had bad intentions
When they told me you had bad intentions
When they told me you had bad intentions

Lyrics provided by

<https://damnllyrics.com/>