

Good Ones and Bad Ones

George Jones

Some come from Heaven, some crawl from Hell
And the good fight the bad for your soul
But it's hard to tell a lie from the truth
When you find one that easy to hold There's no way of knowing which one you've been lovin'
Till you leave her or you lose her for good
And by then it's too late, you just mark it off to fate
Either way, you end up a fool It's a fine line between Heaven and Hell
When the good makes you feel like you should
It's a fine line between Heaven and Hell
When the bad makes you feel just as good A good one will love you for all that she's worth
A bad one will take you for more
A good one will cherish the key to your heart
And a bad one, a key to your door A good one will love you for richer or poorer
But that makes the bad even worse
A good one will love you till death do you apart
And a bad one makes sure you go first It's a fine line between Heaven and Hell
When the good makes you feel like you should
It's a fine line between Heaven and Hell
When the bad makes you feel just as good It's a fine line between Heaven and Hell
When the good makes you feel like you should
It's a fine line between Heaven and Hell
