Happiness

Michael Patrick Kelly

I was waiting with the sirens
In a noisy world
Went looking out for silence
That's when I left the herdRunning from the enemy
But the enemy was me
'Til I found the inner chambre
That echoes eternity (echoes eternity)Now I'm resting my head
Where the stars go to bed
Light fades back from blue to red
As night turns back into dayHere and now
Where it all began
Here and now
I can breath again
Happiness shouldn't stay with me
Happiness needs to beHere and now
Where the ocean meets the sky
Here and now
I leave it all behind
Happiness between you and me
Happiness needs to be, needs to be sharedNow do you see what I see
And feel what I can feel
Just scream into the open wild
Freedom can be real (freedom can be real)So rest down your head
Where the stars go to bed
Light fades back from blue to red
As night turns back into dayHere and now
Where it all began
Here and now
I can breath again
Happiness shouldn't stay with me
Happiness needs to beHere and now
Where the ocean meets the sky
Here and now
I leave it all behind
Happiness between you and me
Happiness needs to be, needs to be sharedHappiness shouldn't stay with me
Happiness needs to be, needs to be shared
