Dimming the Light

Grim Skunk

Did you ever have a good friend
Slowly passing away
Telling him that it won't be the end
Just a brand new dayThe hourglass is all that remains
As time devours you
Tainted blood that flows through your veins
There's nothing you can do
But I say I don't want our love to fade outDon't wanna fade out
And I pray that one day we'll find a way out
No pain no more
Living in a one-man warFace the truth with tears in your eyes
Helpless to save you
Damned be our mortal design
Losing my faith
But I swear that one day we'll find a way outWe'll find a way
Gather all your pride
Head for a new life
To the other side
Fly forever moreSlowly dim the light
To wither then to die
