

Lost

Haste the Day

At the hopeless burned down bridges
When they feel that they can't change
    When the tyrants man their corsairs
When we feel we're going nowhere
        Going nowhere fast
            Going
                Going nowhere fastI used to know
I used to know every answer to every question
        But all the lines are blurred
        And they're fading into grey
            One by one
                They're fading into nothing
                    One by one
They're fading into nothingWhat are we searching for?
(We got lost following the wrong road)
    The answers, they're trapped away
(The darker it gets, the further away we go)Nowhere
        Going nowhere fast
            Nowhere
                Going nowhere fastI used to know
I used to know every answer to every question
        And all I know now
        Is I know nothing
        At allIn the dark of night
        We thought it'd never end
        But when the sun arise
        You light the way again
        What are we searching for?
(We got lost following the wrong road)
    The answers are trapped away
(The darker it gets, the further away we go)What are we searching for?
        When the answers are drifting away
            Nowhere
                Going nowhere fast
                    Nowhere
                        Going nowhere fast
