

November

Heathers

It was a cold, cold night
That evening back in November
When I caught your eye
Didn't know when to let go
So I held on tight
Hanging out for some adventure
When I realized
That you're always searching for more Oh and the world is a mysterious place
It can work in your favour
It can work in strange ways Oh you left me in the cold of the winter
When the skies were heavy
I was out on my own
Oh you left me in the cold of the winter
When my heart was heavy
You were gone, gone, gone It was a cold, cold night
That evening back in November
When I caught your eye
Little or none did I know
That the seasons change
And with it so would your temper
Never be the same
Never feel like it all was before Oh and the world is a mysterious place
It can work in your favour
It can work in strange ways Oh you left me in the cold of the winter
When the skies were heavy
I was out on my own
Oh you left me in the cold of the winter
When my heart was heavy
You were gone, gone, gone And I'm lost now
In the silence
Of a snowfall
In the summer
I remember you calling my name Are you lost now
In the silence
Of a snowfall
In the summer
With another calling your name? Oh you left me in the cold of the winter
When the skies were heavy
I was out on my own

Oh you left me in the cold of the winter
When my heart was heavy
You were gone, gone, gone Oh you left me in the cold of the winter
When the skies were heavy
I was out on my own
Oh you left me in the cold of the winter
When my heart was heavy
You were gone, gone, gone
