

Love Inside

Lindsey Webster

Take a moment to count your blessings
And you will find what you already know
It's the same thing we all seem to miss

It's the one thing we find hard to express
Remember you got all the love that you need inside
Let it just flow and take the ride

There will be new possibilities
Open up your heart and you will see
You got all the love that you need inside

Let it just flow and take the ride
You will see that you will just up and fly
You got all the love that you need inside

For a minute I thought I got it

But the next day I couldn't find my strength
Cuz I was caught up in a world that I can't understand
Where we judge each other as if we can

Even begin to try to understand what battles we fight in our heads
And nothing's as easy as 1, 2, 3

But if you follow through you will come to see
That life is giving you the opportunity to be what you wanna be
Remember you got all the love that you need inside

Let it just flow and take the ride
There will be new possibilities
Open up your heart and you will see
You got all the love that you need inside
Let it just flow and take the ride
You will see that you will just up and fly
You got all the love that you need inside
