Daddy-Longlegs

McCafferty

I think I found out where I do not belong, stuck inside my head here with all my songs
And I ran so far that I lost the time
And I realize now the whole world is mine
She said my friends died when they were real young, I think they're waiting for me on the other side
And when I wake up and you're still gone, promise that you're waiting on the other side
She said my friends died when they were real young, I think they're waiting for me on the other side
And when I wake up and you're still gone, promise that you're waiting on the other sideAnd you were angry as she walks away, and you're getting angry as she tries to stay
And you're getting older so it's hard to say if this all feels forced or if you're here to stay
And I'm getting angry as you walk away, and you're getting sober starting here todayAnd I'm getting older so it's hard to say if this all feels forced or if I'm here to stayDaddy longlegs, daddy, daddy longlegs crawl
Daddy longlegs, crawl until the bodies fall
Daddy longlegs, daddy, daddy longlegs crawl
Daddy longlegs, crawl until the bodies fall
And it was easy up until the lights went out, your brother told you everybody's here to hunt
You better run now, better use your self-control
I'm getting nervous
I want to hurt you
Daddy longlegs, daddy, daddy longlegs crawl
Daddy longlegs, crawl until the bodies fall
Daddy longlegs, daddy, daddy longlegs crawl
Daddy longlegs, crawl until the bodies fallAnd you were just the first step in a long line of every mistake I've made
I can't believe I used to hang out with you, I used to love you
I used to want you, I used to need you
And you were just the first step in a long line of every mistake I've made
I can't believe I used to hang out with you, I used to love you
I used to want you, I used to need you
And I still want you
And I still need you
And I still want you
And I still need you
And I still want you
And I still need you
And I still want you
And I still need you
And I still want you
And I still need you
And I still want you

And I still need you
And I still want you
And I still need you
And I still want you
And I still need you
And I still want you
And I still need you
And I still want you
And I still need you
And I still want you
And I still need you
And I still want you
And I still need you
