Time Passing Bell

arai tasuku

one thousand times i see your face again i touch the old wound in the end of your pink heart said one of the passengers a thing that one is looking for is already there in my words,in worlds

but all things change now never sure to lie awake lake reflect
i want to sleep cuddling with you like green,like a breeze and then i feel breeze,i can breathe years that seemed telescoped like time in a dream

one is looking for is already there in my worlds
i see a red apple fall from the tree the sky suddenly divide like a lute
delete the poison
you know primary instinct take care....the sky suddenly divide lonesome eyes
please wash the world with a youthful madness hitch your wagon to a star

Lyrics Submitted by swirlici

Lyrics provided by https://damnlyrics.com/