

I Got Home Just in Time to Say Goodbye

Ronnie Milsap

I GOT HOME JUST IN TIME TO SAY GOODBYE

Writers Wayne Kemp - Bill Emerson I woke up a thousand miles from home this morning

Sweaten from a bad dream that I had

I rode all night to get back home to you

I can't remember when I needed you this bad

And I got home just in time to see you leaving

And you walked out just in time to see me cry

What my eyes are seeing now I'm not believing

Cause I got home just in time to say goodbye

There he was standing right next to our roses

A half way between the door and the gate

I walk through that man just like I didn't know him

Cause after all a loser don't have much to say

And I got home just in time to see you leaving...

Cause I got home just in time to say goodbye
