

Silence the Little Sparkle Girl

Echo Orbiter

Colors were not themselves (at the time)
She considered to jump, but fell off of the fence
That's gotta be one more way (to receive)
Attention to hide the fact that she can't play

Feeding bottled light on horse drawn carriages
Silence the little sparkle girl; is she sleeping?

This time, please let me
Pull back the shudders
Obstructing the light

Is anyone listening (for the bells?)
Sounding the psychic trend curiosity
There's the lonely boy that she spoke to (years ago)
She foretold he'd be in love with someone by now

Dictating lives with false securities
Trust in the unknown surprise light, that she's hiding

We'll walk, until we Learn how to run from
The creaking cartwheels
