

American Hearts

O Pioneers!!!

They were married in September, back in 1969
They traveled, these two Indians
To find some peace of mind, they stood for love and freedom
They were children of their time, oh, ohThey lived in a world that was cold and uncaring
They swore they would change it with loving and sharing
They'll never live like their parents have done
Their innocence shone like the sunAmerican hearts
So filled with emotion
American hearts
So easily brokenNow they've got a family and a cottage in the hills
He's always working late to pay the mortgage and the bills
And she has trouble sleeping
So the doctor gives her pills, oh, ohWho are these strangers who used to be lovers?
Now they've got nothing to say to each other
Too far apart to discuss their mistakes
They filed for divorce and it breaks theirAmerican hearts
So filled with emotion
American hearts
So easily brokenAh, American hearts
Ah, American hearts, American heartsNow that it's over, they'll each go on living
Never forgetting but somehow forgiving
They'll care for their children, protect them with pride
And that's how their dream will survive inAmerican hearts
So filled with emotion
American hearts
So easily brokenAmerican hearts
So filled with emotion
American hearts
So easily broken
