Walk Away from the Sun

Seether

Walk away from the sun, come slowly undone
I can see in your eyes, I've already won
I could bleed for a smile, I could cry for some fun
Walk away from the sun and tell everyone, YEAH!Theres so much left in the air
So much to tell from the stare
Theres so much left to defend, but I am no funSo turn away from the ones, who hurt everyone
I can tell by your smile, you're comin undone
I could bleed for a smile, could die for a gun
Walk away from the sun and kill everyone, YEAH!So tiny dancer beware
We're medicated and scared
This smile is so hard to wear, but I have no gunSo turn away from the ones, who hurt everyone
I can tell by your smile, you're comin undone
I could bleed for a smile, could die for a gunWalk away from the sun and kill everyoneAnd you're fading with every day [You could've been the next one, you should've been enough for me]
And you're fading with every day [You could've been the next one, you should've been enough for me]
And you're fading with every day [You could've been the next one, you should've been enough for me]
And you're fading with every day [WHOAAAA!]There's so much left in the air
So much to tell from the stares
There's so much left to defend, but I am no funFading with every day [You could've been the next one, you should've been enough for me]
Fading with every day [You could've been the next one, you should've been enough for me]
And you're fading with every day [You could've been the next one, you should've been enough for me]
And you're fading with every dayWalk away from the sun [fading with every day]
Walk away from the sun [fading with every day]
Walk away from the sun [and your fading with every day]
Walk away from the sun [and your fading with every day]
