I'm Not Over You

Rhonda Vincent

Tonight the rain that's falling
Only adds to my heartache
It runs quietly down my window
Like the tears upon my faceAnd each time the lightning flashes
And I hear the thunder roar
I'm reminded of the closing of the doorI'm not over you
The storm still rages
The waves of pain remind me
That we're through
I'm slowly drowning
In a sea of endless heartbreak
I'm going under
'Cause I'm not over youI keep holding to your memory
But my hopes are sinking fast
The chance that you'll come back to me
Now fades into the pastCan I find a way to let you go
Somewhere down deep inside
By reaching for the healing hands of timeI'm not over you
The storm still rages
The waves of pain remind me
That we're through
I'm slowly drowning
In a sea of endless heartbreak
I'm going under
'Cause I'm not over you
I'm going under
'Cause I'm not over you
