

The Missing Piece (ft. Lizzie Huffman)

Forgive Durden

What a splendid mess!
O the Scientist, and his Genesis
He overlooks my gift and then I think
She's the only who knows what I could have done
I must be patient.
They will realize what I know inside.
I was meant to lead this world to greater things
It's my destiny Everything seems to fade when I see her face
The sky and trees all blur every time I look at her
Nobody understood me till her eyes fixed upon me
My puzzle life's complete, now that I've found the missing piece Don't you worry, boy, it's a waste of time
Place your hand on mine, untie your mind
We'll just float away into the day
You're not the only one who thinks they're falling in love
You must be patient
They will realize what I see inside
You were meant to lead this world to greater things
It's your destiny Everything seems to fade when I see her face
The sky and trees all blur every time I look at her
Nobody understood me till her eyes fixed upon me
My puzzle life's complete, now that I've found the missing piece O, you're the meaning
Nidria, please listen, I'd like to explain
I should have told you sooner, it's been gnawing at my brain
My mind's in knots, it's got me lost,
Please help me through the maze
'Cause you're the key, the lock turning,
The breaking of these chains Everything seems to fade when I see his face
It seems all the stars turn down every time I look at him
Nobody understood me till his eyes fixed upon me
My puzzle life's complete, now that I've found the missing piece Everything seems to fade when I see her face
The sky and trees all blur every time I look at her
Nobody understood me till her eyes fixed upon me
My puzzle life's complete, now that I've found the missing piece Ahrima, the most gifted serif, the utmost skilled of the cherubs,
He felt his aptitude and slate were being misused
Shamed, he repined this to O the Scientist,
Who replied with a calm face, expressionless Dream with your eyes closed
Try and pluck the pearl from your bones
Dream with your eyes closed

Try and pluck the pearl from your bones

Songwriters

DUTTON, THOMAS/DUTTON, PAULPublished by

Lyrics Â© Warner/Chappell Music, Inc. Song Discussions is protected by U.S. Patent 9401941. Other patents pending.

Lyrics provided by

<https://damnyrics.com/>