Count on Me

Sundy Best

Baby, when the days limp along
And the moonlight won't render sleep
Baby, when there's no one else around
You can always count on me
When life throws you curves
Won't you let me swing firstWhen you feel like there's too much on your plate
Like the world is coming down to rest on your shoulder blades
When you feel like letting go, when the curtain starts to close
When it takes all you got to take one step more
When the first one to call is the last one to show
You'll finally see
You can always count on me
Baby when the cities lose their names
And the water walks right out of the sea
Baby when your highways turn to dirt
You can always count on me
When life throws you curves
Won't you let me swing firstWhen you feel like there's too much on your plate
Like the world is coming down to rest on your shoulder blades
When you feel like letting go, when the curtain starts to close
When it takes all you got to take one step more
When the first one to call is the last one to show
You'll finally see
You can always count on meWe got an outfit full of halos
Coming down like a tornado
That's what we got and all we'll ever need
When you feel like there's too much on your plate
Like the world is coming down to rest on your shoulder blades
When you feel like letting go, when the curtain starts to close
When it takes all you got to take one step more
When the first one to call is the last one to show
You'll finally see
You can always count on meCount on me
