

End Times

Eels

Crazy guy with a matted beard
Standing on the corner
Shouting out, end times are near
And nobody noticing But I can hear him loud and clear
She is gone now and nowhere near
Seems like end times are here I walk around a puddle in the street
And head on home
Outside my window there's a cat in heat
Shut up, cat and leave me alone There ain't no heat on 'round here
I don't feel nothing now, not even fear
Now that end times are here Now everyone's crazy and lost their minds
Just look at the world
Could all be over at any old time And I can hear it loud and clear
The world is ending and what do I care
She's gone, end times are here
