Somewhere Someone's Falling In Love

John Prine

Well, I got time on my hands
And I got you on my mind
And the moon and the stars up aboveThere's a warm summer breeze
Blowing down through the trees
And somewhere someone's falling in loveIf this world where we live is the only one we have
And there's only one thing I'm thinking of Let's go for that ride, keep our eyes open wide
'Cause somewhere someone's falling in loveYou may be looking for someone
Someone may be looking for you
Someday you'll awaken and open your eyes
And love will be looking at youSo don't get down on yourself
No, and don't lose your faith
Believe these words that I'm singing of
For just as sure as the day that you were born
Somewhere someone's falling in loveYou may be looking for someone
Someone may be looking for you
Someday you'll awaken and open your eyes
And love will be looking at youSo don't get down on yourself
No and don't lose your faith
Believe these words that I'm singing of
For just as sure as the day that you were born
Somewhere someone's falling in loveYeah, just as sure as the day that you were born
Somewhere someone's falling
Somewhere someone's falling
Somewhere someone's falling in love
