

Angela (Live, 2016)

The Lumineers

When you left this town, with your windows down
And the wilderness inside Let the exits pass, all the tar and glass
'Til the road and sky align The strangers in this town,
They raise you up just to cut you down
Oh Angela it's a long time coming And your Volvo lights lit up green and white
With the cities on the signs But you held your course to some distant war
In the corners of your mind From the second time around
The only love I ever found
Oh Angela it's a long time coming Home at last Were you safe and warm in your coat of arms
With your fingers in a fist Did you hear the notes, all those static codes
In the radio abyss? Strangers in this town,
They raise you up just to cut you down
Oh Angela it's a long time coming
Oh Angela spent your whole life running Home at last
Home at last Vacancy, hotel room, lost in me, lost in you
Angela, on my knees, I belong, I believe Home at last
Home at last
Home at last
Home at last Home at last, hmm
