Brass Bed

Josh Gracin

Baby, the clock on the wall is lying
It's not really that late
It's too cold outside to be walkin' around
The streets of this town
Anywhere even you think you have to be can waitWhy don't you stay with me
Share all your secrets tonight
We can make believe the morning sun never will rise
Come and lay your head on this big brass bed
And we'll be alright as long as you stay with me, yeahBaby, there's just no use in hiding
The way that I am feeling right now
With you standing there baby I swear I can't help but stare
Girl you're wearing me out, you're wearing me outBaby stay with me share all your secrets tonight
We can make believe
Morning sun never will rise
Come and lay your head on this big brass bed
We'll be alright as long as you stay with meBaby don't go it looks like it's starting to rain
And it's so warm here in this apartment wrapped up in this blanket
So stay yeah yeahStay with me share all your secrets tonight
We can make believe
The morning sun never will rise
Come and lay your head on this big brass bed
I'll be alright as long as you stay with me
I'll be alright as long as you stay with me, yeahStay with me
