

Stale

Beanbag

Cruel bagged then snagged is how I want things done
I want the best in my life, and I will please anyone
I'm strapped into this chair, watching TV that's aired
Live across the globe, I smell
Throw your attention over here, I've got nothing to say
It won't change your life, but that's cool these days
And now an ad is on, the show is gone
From the box in front of me
My eyes are burning radiation
From the microwave that's on
It's cooking my meal, it's a TV dinner
And I think it's fake veal
You can't burn it in the microwave
And if I did, hey I would order out anyway
You can't burn it in the microwave
And if I did
You've been created from an image of love
You've been created in an image of God
You've been created from an image of love
You've been created in an image of God
You've been created from an image of love
Too complex I go to rest, I can't seem to get things done
Well, I'm a woman with a mouth and I'm prepared to switch it on I've just come back from all this walking, 'cause I'm losing weight
Was talking with a friend of Sharon's mum, fat was in out, I looked dumb
I saw myself in the mirror, and I guess
I'm getting thinner
I've been taking all the pills, I better eat some meals
But what's the point?
Will I see clearer or will I be bigger?
You've been created in an image of love
You've been created from an image of God
You've been created in an image of love
You've been created from an image of God
You've been created in an image of love
You've been created, you've been created
You've been created, you've been created
I go to church every Sunday, but when it comes Monday
I'm back at work where I scream and curse
I talk real dirty to people, make them think I'm real cool
My life's so simply complex
I leave small groups are on, but what is that
As I slam down the phone
You've been created from an image of love
You've been created in an image of God
You've been created from an image of love
You've been created in an image of God
You've been created from an image of love
You've been created, you've been created
You've been created, you've been created

Lyrics provided by <https://damnyrics.com/>