Vireo's Eye

Future Islands

A loose, and hazy time
When you were not my Clementine
And I was not your diamond's eyeBereft, as daisies lie
For our love was not lost in style
You were strong, I was a childWe, we're not kings here,
We're not kings here
We're just strangersAnd Love, has died in song
Carried down by ancient tongues
Ferried around the water's thrum
And winds, along a line
Along a whirl, a lonely girlTo be, to see, to sweat, and bleed
To fall on your sword-on your sword
On your wordWe, we're not kings here,
We're not kings here
We're just strangersBe still, by my side
For you are not my Clementine
And I am not your diamond's eye
To Sleep!By right of you, I can't endure
In the light of things, I can't ignore
In spite of all the rose's thorns, and hopeless words, and hopeless worksWe, we're not kings here,
We're not kings here
We're just strangersWe, we're not kings here,
We're not the kings here
We're just strangersWe, we're not kings here,
We're not kings here
We're just strangersWe, we're not kings here,
We're not the kings here
We're just strangers
And angels
