

Hot Anger, Soon Cold

The Snake the Cross the Crown

we all know, that the tension, is getting higher well it's getting harder, for us, to get along and the problems we're having with each other are ones, we shouldn't have at all what we're letting get to us, we should be, letting go but it's setting in, and it's harder, to know and what we want from this life 'cause' we're in it now, and we can't get out and no matter how we feel we're committed to this life what we're letting get to us, we should be, letting go but it's setting in, and it's harder, to know i choose to let it go, 'cause' i know, that we can work this out if honest friends make solid oaths, and keep their words, for it sits in view then take my trust and count on it, then take my trust and count on it what we're letting get to us, we should be, letting go
