

Queen of You

Monster Magnet

Spinning in your apartment
Climbing the walls so stoned
Crazy we live in a world of billions
Your only friend is a phone Every single time he says, he knows who you are
As every single time, you know he lies
He loves you, he hates you
He loves you, he hates you Since you found your wings
Now those wings can fly
And every now and then you gotta clear that sky
You're such a little demon, what's a demon to do
The time has come to crown yourself the queen
The queen of you You're such a creature in your comfort
Your body commands your mind
Big appetizer and a sense of adventure
You slap yourself over the line Every single time he says, he knows you want some
As every single time, you know he's right
You love him, you hate him
You love him, you hate him Since you found your wings
Now those wings can fly
Every now and then you gotta clear that sky
You're such a little demon, what's a demon to do
The time has come to crown yourself the queen
The queen of you You got a new apartment
And I know you're not alone
Whenever you got a good thing going
You never answer your phone We are all creatures of comfort
Our bodies betray our wills
When it all turns real and our hearts gets threatened
You gotta go in for the kill Every single time, we think we have the answers
As every single time, we get surprised
We love life, we hate life
We love life, we hate life Since you found your wings
Now those wings can fly
Every now and then you gotta clear that sky
You're such a little demon, what's a demon to do
The time has come to crown yourself
The queen of you Since you found your wings
Now those wings can fly
And every now and then you gotta clear that sky

You're such a little demon, what's a demon to do
The time has come to crown yourself the queen
The queen of youLove life, hate life
Love life, hate life
Love life, hate life
...

Lyrics provided by
<https://damnllyrics.com/>