

Universe

Mark Wills

Bet you didn't know
You were sacred to me
Like a cathedral rising
High into the blue
Bet you didn't know
All the courage I have came from you It was you
Bet you didn't know
You were my tower of strength
Through the hurricane
Like a child
I found peace in your
Arms time and again
Time and again You were my life through the storm
You were my shelter that kept me warm
You were my heart, my soul
My kingdom come, the breath I breathe
The sky, the sun, the moon, and stars all wrapped into one
In other words
You're my universe Bet you didn't know you inspired my dreams
You help me believe in myself
Yes, you did
Bet you didn't know you were the only one
Who stood by me where there was no one else
When there was no one else You were my life through the storm
You were my shelter that kept me warm
You were my heart, my soul
My kingdom come, the breath I breathe
The sky, the sun, the moon, and stars all wrapped into one
In other words
You're my universe You were my life through the storm
You were my shelter that kept me warm
You were my heart, my soul
My kingdom come, the breath I breathe
The sky, the sun, the moon, and stars all wrapped into one
In other words
You're my universe
