

A Song for a Broken Heart

A Static Lullaby

Take this for what it's worth, this song... my smile,
I write to you from hell my song leaving the foot against the gas and the wall that must have said your name,
Weaken you from nothing you can say can stop this now,
Would a noose replace his lips?
Can a song replace a broken heart? can a song replace a broken love? on the beach I remind myself that holding hands is so powerless, Tonight I don't even have the stars to hold on to... paint this red... her picture will remain unbroken she cries tonight "i fall in love"..
Wipe each tear away with sand paper tonight I'm not alone... I just wanna get your fucking voice out of my head...
