

Hard to Breathe

Letters from Aaralyn

Willing to fall in your whispering eyes

I can see again

Awaiting tonight seems impossible

And it's getting hard to breathe again

But you look so beautiful, it's hard to believe

Your dress fits you perfectly down to the seams

But the seams of my life are tearing apart

So hem me up, and handle with care

If you trust in me, then I'll trust in you

And we can go anywhere as long as you hold me tight

And never let go

Of my dreams, my heart and take damn good care of my soul

Between the lines of my symphony of love

Lies a simple, desperate man that just cannot get enough

Of a girl like you

Whose figure falls oh so perfectly with mine

Waiting for our lips meeting once again

Makes it hard for me to breathe

And it's getting hard to breathe again

But I should have known this after all of these months

All of these months that were blossomed by love

And if you trust in me, then I'll trust in you

And we can go anywhere as long as you hold me tight

And never let go

Of my dreams, my heart and take damn good care of my soul

Believe in us

I promise you baby, believe in us

I promise you baby, believe in me

Please believe in me

You're everything

If you trust in me, then I'll trust in you

And we can go anywhere as long as you hold me tight

And never let go

Of my dreams, my heart and take damn good care of my soul

If you trust in me, then I'll trust in you

And we can go anywhere as long as you hold me tight

And never let go

Of my dreams, my heart and take damn good care of my soul

Lyrics Submitted by Justin Cole

Lyrics provided by

<https://damnlyrics.com/>