Judas Said to Be a Man

Trevor Sensor

Home, home is something I have never known,
As we wait for something, something like a light,
Oh in time, I got parasite burning my young mind,
It haunts me on my sad and troubled nights,
As we wait for something, something like a light.

Oh no, you wait for someone to toss you to the dogs,
Always wait for something, something to go wrong,
Say you owe me something, nothing at all.

Oh well Judas, Judas had me open my young eyes,
As we wait for something, something like a light,

Well I'm so sorry, sorry for the brittle strings I broke,
Burning bridges swallowed in the smoke,
As we wait for something, something like a light,

Oh no, you wait for someone to toss you to the dogs,
Always wait for something, something to go wrong,
Say you owe me something, nothing at all.

Oh no, no, no, no, you kept me clean and tell me all these things,
That I'm no good my father's just like me,
That I can't be something, can't be anything.

Lyrics Submitted by Jackie du Bled

Lyrics provided by https://damnlyrics.com/