Prophecy

Remy Zero

Consider this a sign
This is a train in the night
And now it's time for you to go
You know you've had a healthy life, boy
You walk this world like you're a ghost
Your hands are comin' through the needles
Sick of your tragic and your evils
I am the keeper of the songs of everyone
Look into the sun and see your soul is dyin'
Used to feel the faith, but now you're tired of tryin'
Should have left alone what you had stolen from everyone
Mmm, how ya feelin'? Seems a little sick to me now
This is a comin' of the times
You are a witness to the movement
If all you're seein' is your lies
You had your chance, but now you've blown it
You want his world so you can own him
I am the keeper of the songs of everyone
Look into the sun and see your soul is dyin'
Used to feel the faith, but now you're tired of tryin'
Should have left alone what you had stolen from everyone
Mmm, how ya feelin'? Seems a little sick to me
From the light on high a chance to change your fate
Forgiveness fallin' down on those who chose to wait
Remember the time, find yourself home again
Deep within your light, find yourself a home again
It's a choice, you have chosen your own
It's like I told you
I could turn this into light
If you raise the mask
I can lead us home tonight
Look into the sun and see your soul is dyin'
Used to feel the faith, but now you're tired of tryin'
Should have left alone what you had stolen from everyone
How ya feelin'?
Look into the sun and see your soul is dyin'
Used to feel the faith, but now you're tired of tryin'
Should have left alone what you had stolen from everyone
Mmm, how ya feelin'? Seems a little sick, it seems a little sick

It seems a little sick to me now

Lyrics provided by https://damnlyrics.com/