Watch The World End

Trace Adkins

I had a bad dream last night
The whole world was ending, right before my eyes
There were fires, there were floods,
And everyone was running out of time.
It made me think what I'd do
If we really came to the end of the line.
I don't think I'd spend my last hour at an altar
Or somewhere making toasts to good old days.
The more I think about it, all I'd really wanna do
Is watch the world end with you.

I'd lay down in a field by your side
And watch every star falling out of the sky
I'd steal a kiss from your sweet lips one last time
And I wouldn't be afraid as long as your hand was in mine.
I don't think I'd spend my last hour at an altar
Or somewhere making toasts to good old days.
The more I think about it, all I'd really wanna do
Is watch the world end with you.
I'd watch the world end with you.
