One Less Pony

Sawyer Brown

You can wind up empty handed at the altar all alone
Or you can rob a bank in San Antone
She just rambled on a drinking, staring at her ring
She look at me and said, "I just came here to ease the pain"'Cause there'll be one less pony in this one horse town
When my spurs hit the ground, I'm gonna just ride on out
There'll be one less pony in this one horse town
I've been lassoed by loneliness, branded by the blues
I'm gonna exit west, put on my hat and cruiseShe was talking crazy but her heart was making sense
I moved a little closer and kindly listened in The hurt was runnin' deeper, then the scars would ever show
She looked at me and asked, "When love leaves, where does it go?"'Cause there'll be one less pony in this one horse town
When my spurs hit the ground, I'm gonna just ride on out
There'll be one less pony in this one horse town
I've been lassoed by loneliness, branded by the blues
I'm gonna exit west, put on my hat and cruiseI've been lassoed by loneliness, branded by the blues
I'm gonna exit west, put on my hat and cruise'Cause there'll be one less pony in this one horse town
When my spurs hit the ground, I'm gonna just ride on out
There'll be one less pony in this one horse town
I've been lassoed by loneliness, branded by the blues
I'm gonna exit west, put on my hat and cruise
I'm gonna exit west, put my hat on and cruise

Lyrics provided by https://damnlyrics.com/