

Here Comes The Bride

Spin Doctors

Here she comes on down the aisle
Behind her veil she wears a smile
 In her hands the bright bouquet
Daddy's here to give the bride away
 Best man fumbles for the band
Groom puts it on her trembling hand
 Almost before the vows are through
In her calmest voice she says, "I do."Here comes the bride
 Something old
 Here comes the bride
 Something new
 Here comes the bride
 Something borrowed
And something blueShe hears the sound of little feet
 But first there's a wedding cake to eat
 Guests line up to kiss the bride
 The groom feels like a lucky guy
 Up above the church bells ring
 Preacher says which psalm to sing
 There was silence 'till a bride's maid sighed
And someone said, "Here comes the bride."Here comes the bride
 Something old
 Here comes the bride
 Something new
 Here comes the bride
 Something borrowed
And something blue(You may now kiss the bride)The veil goes back revealing bliss
 The groom leans in to take his kissHere comes the bride
 Something old
 Here comes the bride
 Something new
 Here comes the bride
 Something borrowed
 And something blue...

Songwriters

GROSS, CHRISTOPHER / COMESS, AARONPublished by

Lyrics © Sony/ATV Music Publishing LLC Song Discussions is protected by U.S. Patent 9401941. Other patents pending.

Lyrics provided by
<https://damnlrics.com/>