Return To Me

The Last Goodnight

I know my voice is silence to your ears
I know I said some things you didn't deserve to hear
I miss you, God I miss you, why do I miss you?I lie awake at night kicking at the sheets
No matter how much I try they never cover my feet
I need you, God I need you, why do I?I finally gathered up the strength
To get through my daysYou lift me up
(Just to let me down)
You lift me up
(Just to let me down)You call me on the phone, try and see if Im at home
You play with my emotions, give me some kind of hope
I miss you, God I miss you, why do I?I finally gathered up the strength
To get through these lonely, lonely nightsYou lift me up
(Just to let me down)
You lift me up
(Just to let me down)You've got me desperate and confused
And my confidence is thrown
I'd rather be miserable with you
Than ever be alone, you're free of meYou lift me up
(Just to let me down)
You lift meI will change the way I talk
I will change the way I feel
I will change the way I walk
Until nothing left is realI will change the way I call your name
Change the way I eat
I will change the way I touch you
When you're lying there asleep'Cause I miss you
God I miss you, I miss you
Return to me, return to me, return to me
I will change everything
