

Summertime Blood

Orphan Twins

Open your eyes to a world that's just beginning
Scratching your skin from the bug bites on your body
    Hide in the grass to see which side is greener
You're making me mad, so I look into the mirror
    You and me
        Just like the trees
    We're growing up
    Lying in the sun with you
        There's nothing else I wanna do
        The summertime is coming in
You always had the softest skin
    You look in her eyes to see a tear is falling
        You catch fireflies
        You forgive each other
    Wanting your summertime blood
    Lying in the sun with you
        There's nothing else I wanna do
        The summertime is coming in
