If Only

Hoobastank

I thought it wasn't wrong
To hide from you, a simple truth
I was scared, I'd felt it all along
But it hurt too much for me to share
If only I had been less blind
I'd have someone to hold on to
If only I could change your mind
If only I had known, if only I had you
I finally understand why things have happened
And how it all could go so wrong
Will this pain ever end?
'Cause I don't think I can carry on
If only I had been less blind
I'd have someone to hold on to
If only I could change your mind
If only I had known, if only I had you
If only I had you
If only I had you
If only I had been less blind
I'd have someone to hold on to
(I won't let go)
If only I could have spoke my mind
If only it were true
We could start brand-new
I know I'll make it through
If only I had you
If only I had you
If only I had you
