Early Mornings

Goth Babe

And I, I sit in my room
All night long
I forgot how to smile
I forgot,
How to be strong

And you and me
We make out in my bed
Sometimes I imagine life,
If you were dead

It's not that wrong

And you, you know
You love, someone else
And you, you know
You love, someone else

I'd love to find a way
Into you

I can't go through life having Nothing new

The same awful day
Over and over again

I can't make myself cry
I can't give into sin

It's not that wrong

And you, you know
You love, someone else
And you, you know
You love, someone else
And you, you know
You love, someone else
And you, you know
You love, someone else

And you, you know
You love, someone else
And you, you know
You love, someone else
And you, you know
You love, someone else
And you, you know
You love, someone else
