Finding Faith

Blacklisted

We find our faith in the damnedest place
The thin line between love and hate
Sold it all for a shot of hope
You can feel but you can't cope
Although you know that it hurts
They can't make it any worse
You can't break a broken soul
Warm heart that's turned cold
Here it comes again, that familiar feeling
Almost tastes like hate
In my own strage way
I like being left in the dark
Because I'm always there to watch it fall apart
On the long road finding means to an end
Here we fucking go again
Believing left me empty handed stuck with a heavy heart
Unraveled and fucking broken
I'm just trying to play it smart
Dazed in the past, forced to die alone
I'm headed downhill fast to parts unknown

Lyrics provided by https://damnlyrics.com/