

Justine

Flowing Tears

you run deeper and faster you run past the disaster you run... a smile in the suitcase you run... a nowhere inside you know you'll never fly so close you tried to feel the fire but to forever try one day your wings will learn to fly you run restless and wired you run trembling and tired you scream - out to the nowhere Justine - alone against the tide you know you'll never fly your name won't be no running fire
but to forever try
one day your feet will sear the sky and while the miles fly away memories decay the years are dying each year for birthday a card few words from the heart a note from the run you stop. taking a breath while you lock away the past miles sit down!
the running is over Justine - I know where you hide! you know you'll never fly
your name won't be no running fire
but to forever try
one day your steps will take you higher

Lyrics provided by

<https://damnllyrics.com/>