Soda

Craig Cardiff

at the house with dan and dad, cath and suze and liz and grams all of us fight over nothing again accident car came by picked us all up took us on a ride you stayed back with the dogs insidelove fills the room up like lead balloons we laugh until we cry ourselves into bed with you if all the stars are promises they've all gone and left the bed and tonight, there's no light with you if all the stars should disappear just to make the darkness clear, then tonight, there's no light left with you. without you...up in bed over soda pop you said life is grand and doesn't stop i'm not leaving only going for awhile the trouble with singers and songs is more often than not they get it all wrong don't you dare get it wronglove fills the room up like lead balloons
we laugh until we cry ourselves into bed with you
just to make the darkness near,
then tonight, there's no light left with you.
without you...
