Papercut Massacre

There you are, caught red handed
With another man you were planning
To stay out all night
I'm sure your more than satisfied
I'm tired of being reprimanded
I've never held any kind of standing
Against everyone else
You've been putting me on the shelf
I should've known that there's no trusting you anymore
I'm sure that you've been passed all round this town
I know you never loved me back
But that's alright
I'm waiting here for something else to come
To come undone
I know that you never loved me back
But that's alright
I'm waiting here
Something told me to be less clever
The less I know you about you is better
Than finding all this all out
And going another round
And when all this madness is all over
You'll destroy another lover
I gave this out to you
And you broke it in two
I should've known that there's no trusting you anymore
I'm sure my friends all had a turn by now
I know you never loved me back
But that's alright
I'm waiting here for something else to come
To come undone
I know that you never loved me back
But that's alright
I'm waiting here
Well it hurt me to be losing my soul
And it feels just like murder
It feels just like murder
And it hurts me right straight down to my bones
And it feels just like murder
I know you never loved me
I know you never loved me back
But that's alright
I'm waiting here for something else to come
To come undone
I know that you never loved me back
But that's alright

I'm waiting here I know you never loved me back

I know you never loved me back

But that's alright

I'm waiting here
