

Wellspring

The Autumn Defense

Oh, under every ocean is
A wondrous cavern where people live
Where no one's ever gonna make you do a thing that you don't want
The stars do crackle from underneath
With a plume of colors too deep to reach
And I won't ever, ever, see a sight like this again
Come, come, I must confess
There's a swelling feeling in my chest
There's a wellspring in my chest
That's overflowing
Behind every good soul you get
The darker tunes and silhouettes
Can you hear the music playing your friends?
Model citizens, model trains
Look a little closer and see the veins
Can you see the details in their faces?
Come, come, I must confess
There's a swelling feeling in my chest
There's a wellspring in my chest
That's overflowing
I think I'll go looking for a never ending tale
That's the time I end up in jail
Inside of me
Come, come, I must confess
There's a swelling feeling in my chest
There's a wellspring in my chest
That's overflowing
