

Living in the Rose

New Model Army

The lovers, they kiss
And slowly they turn
For drawing a breath
There is nothing but timeA thousand million years
Before we crash in the sun
And still we will be
Here in her armsIn the thick black night
We could lie in the grass
And gaze at the sky
Watch the satellites passA thousand million years
Before we crash in the sun
And still we will be
Here in her armsAnd if we could float
[Incomprehensible] in our dreams
There's a city that waits
Under the seaDays to pass living in the rose
The seeded land, slow and old
The scented air, heavy and warm
Whispers, touchesA thousand million years
Before we crash in the sun
And still we will be
Here in her arms, here in her arms
